

NEW YORK POST

April 28, 2011

Dream homes

When only a mansion will do

By VICTOR WISHNA

Midtown East $5.8 million

The problem with glass houses — besides the whole “don’t throw stones” thing — is that they might not feel so private. Well, that’s only a problem if they aren’t high up enough. This duplex condo, a “double-height mansion in the sky” with floor-to-ceiling windows, occupies the 34th and 35th floors of an East 57th Street building. In addition to “jaw-dropping panoramic views” from “river to river,” there are three bedrooms and three bathrooms, including a separate wing with its own entrance — maybe that’s where to put the staff or guests. There’s a “gracious” corner living/dining room and a “stunning” custom kitchen, plus a recent, “flawless” renovation included new sound and lighting systems. Agent: Frances Katzen, Prudential Douglas Elliman, 212-350-8575