

NEW YORK POST

December 8, 2011

'Count' her in

In 2009, during the recession, Countess Marie Douglas-David, then 37, was divorcing a mogul who was 30 years older, George David, CEO of United Technologies. After deciding her $42 million prenuptial agreement wasn't enough to maintain her lifestyle, which included a penchant for cut flowers, she did what anyone in her position would do: She contested the agreement and asked for $100 million.

Now, Douglas-David, who settled for $50 million, is looking for a home of her own. One place she has been spotted is 34 Greene St. in SoHo, where the four-bedroom, five-plus-bath, 4,998-square-foot penthouse is priced at $13.75 million. The duplex in the 1873 cast-iron building includes 15-foot ceilings and a large wraparound terrace with an outdoor shower and kitchen.

Listing brokers Frances Katzen, Melanie Lazenby and Dina Lewis of Prudential Douglas Elliman could not be reached for comment.