$13.995 MILLION
UPPER WEST SIDE

If you like history, you'll appreciate that this West 77th Street penthouse co-op, steps from Central Park, tops a building that rose in 1928 — during the boom of prestigious apartment houses. If you really like history, you'll love that it sits directly across from the American Museum of Natural History. And either way, the six-bedroom, five-bathroom spread, "unmatched in charm and brilliance" — and with a 30-foot-long living room and a terrace with Central Park and skyline views — makes for an impressive achievement in anyone's personal history. Agent: Frances Katzen, Douglas Elliman, 212-350-8575
